

A Student's Journey: Margaret Fatt

Margaret's Story

Margaret Fatt, originally from Lutsel K'e, attended Adult Upgrading at the Tree of Peace Friendship Centre for 2 years. She was determined to get more education to set an example for her teenaged son and also to make up for the school years she had missed when she was younger. Her attendance and class participation were always excellent. Margaret has an inquiring mind which is always a valuable asset when learning new things in school. She was never afraid to ask questions or given an opinion on any topic. Her courage and perseverance in following her chosen educational path will help Margaret achieve her life goals at Aurora College or elsewhere.

Maggie began her journey in the Developmental Studies program at Aurora College in September, 2013. Before coming back to her studies, Maggie had already accomplished many things with her own language, culture and on-the-land. Since joining us she has shown herself to be everything an Adult Education student should be.

Her ability to transfer her traditional skills and her gift with people makes her a true leader in the classroom. She is generous and helpful to all of her classmates especially a new student from another country. Maggie leads by example in her quiet way, and this helps make our learning community stronger. She always challenges herself to improve and try new things. Unlike most students, Maggie does not look forward to weekends but much prefers being in school. With all of these qualities, Maggie can go anywhere she wants to go in the future.

Connecting Communities of Learning

www.nabesymposium.ca